TYPES OF OLIVES

Olive can be a very delicious choice to eat with food. These days, a wide variety of them and their combinations can be found. To choose the right one according to your taste, the first step is to know the different types of them.

Green olives are one type that are divided into many kinds too. Halkidiki is one of the traditional Greek ones. This kind of olive is egg-like, fleshy, and juicy and has a spicy and peppery taste. Manzanilla is the next kind which is mostly found in Spain and is suitable for those who love the combination of spicy and salty flavors. Other types of green ones are Sicilian and Pichulin.

On the other hand, we have black ones which are divided into Kalamata, Ponentine, Gaeta, Lugano, and Alphonso.
